

About.com: Auto Repair

About.com e-Newsletter

February 12, 2010

About.com: Auto Repair

Auto Repair

Troubleshooting

DIY Repairs

From Matthew Wright, Your Guide to Auto Repair.

Every garage needs a six pack, don't you agree? All jokes aside, let me say that drinking while working on your car is one of the worst ideas ever. Not only do you need all of your faculties to get the job done right, there's a real chance you could hurt yourself! Save the beer for later. But while you're wrenching, I found another Six-Pack that will help instead of hurt your progress under the hood.

Parts Stores Selling Six Packs!

Do you keep a six pack in your garage? We've never had a six pack in our shop before, but were excited when we saw that they were selling six packs at the auto parts store! Read more

Mechanic Fails Test Drive, Flips Car

Wow. If you ever thought your day was going badly, you should listen to this guy's story. A woman dropped her 2008 Porsche off at her neighborhood Shell station for... Read more

Having Your Brakes Serviced? Don't Forget the Parking Brake

We all know how important it is to keep your brakes in top shape. After all, it doesn't do any good to drive to the store if you can't stop... Read more

Safety First!

Your safety and the safety of those around you should be at the top of every car owner's list of concerns. If you're careful from the beginning and keep safety in mind while you work, you'll have a problem free car and enough fingers to enjoy it. A car is only as dangerous on the road as the bloke behind the wheel. The same is true for the bloke holding the wrench. Here are a few rules to help you stay safe.