

THE KENTUCKY ENQUIRER

May 1, 2010

THE GOODS

Enquirer news services

Garden gadgets

Gannett photos

Higher temperatures and sunnier days mean one thing: yard work. If you've got access to a patch of grass or a garden that needs some post-winter help, equip yourself to make the hard work simpler.

Mow a lawn as big as $\frac{1}{3}$ of an acre on just one charge with Black & Decker's 36-volt 19-inch rechargeable mower. The battery can be removed for more convenient charging. \$399.99; find a retailer at www.blackanddecker.com.

Lug around your garden gear with a Gorilla 2-in-1 utility cart, which can turn into a flatbed and carries up to 800 pounds. $64.99 at Sears.

Tough yards need a tough seed: Scotts Turf Builder EZ Seed, which contains a protective growing material that lets new grass sprout almost anywhere. Available in Sun and Shade, Tall Fescue and Bermudagrass. $14.44 for 3.75 pounds at Home Depot.

Liquid Wrench keeps dirt from sticking to shovels, loosens spark plugs on chainsaws and unfreezes stuck garden hose nozzles. Prices range from $2.22 to $5.96 at www.gunk.com.

Let the kids help with tools sized and designed for them. Dora the Explorer garden tools, $3 each at <http://katzgardengloves.com>.

Fifty-foot tangle-proof Orbit coil hose comes with a six-direction sprayer. $19.99 online only at www.target.com.

